Knowledge

As you move on in life we hope you look back fondly on your days at Massachusetts Maritime: all those dreaded monday mornings where rolling out of bed to go to MOFO just didn't seem possible; the joy and delicious aroma that filled campus around noon on chicken patty tuesday, and tuesday nights as a sophomore sitting in a crowded Admirals' Hall listening to Commander Page speak about what it is to be a leader. The sweet taste of freedom when you're no longer a freshman and can go out on "crazy sophomore lib night" only to be back in uniform at 2255 for inspections in the Fantail.

As an upperclassman, wednesday equals "Almost Friday." Then thursday, also known as Friday Eve, leads into a glorious Friday morning shortfo and freedom for the weekend!

Remember to always hold dear the lessons learned, not only in the classroom, but through your friendships and relationships with peers. Hold close the memories of Youngie Orientation, Sir/Ma'am sandwiches, Viking Bath, Halloween MOFO, Midnight breakfast during finals, 9's and 10's inspections, loud construction workers, and all those late nights cleaning for Admirals. As the saying goes, "Massachusetts Maritime is a hard place to be, but a great place to be from." Class of 2014, congrats on making it to the other side.

Best Regards,

Dear Members of the Class of 2014,
Congratulations!

When you first reported to Orientation in August 2010, there were 381 cadets standing tall on the Parade Field. At the time, you represented the largest class in MMA history and you would be witness to some significant changes to the Academy; from over $80M in construction that would cause the face of the Academy to change and grow, to the bigger and bigger incoming classes that would follow you to Buzzards Bay.Through it all, you remembered to place value on the things that mattered; your family and friends, your education (the percentage of students who qualified for President's List and Dean's List jumped dramatically), and the Regiment (the leadership you exhibited was exemplary). You have been good stewards of this Academy while you have been enrolled and I am personally proud of your many accomplishments.

Now that you are making plans to walk across the mess deck patio to receive your diploma, your ranks have thinned - not surprising when one considers the arduous journey you have undertaken. We joke that only a few would sign up to pay $20,000+ to take Calculus/Chemistry/Physics, have their head shaved, wear polyester uniforms, clean heads and showers, start college in August and go almost non stop until late June, jam 5 years of credits into 4 years, wake up at 0500, and be yelled at by Marines. But only the strong will emerge from the end of that long journey.

The Class of 2014 is certainly strong, with over 300 of you still standing tall, ready to begin the next voyage. You have shared both adventure and adversity as you have traveled from that day in August 2010 to 21 June 2014 and you have developed both personally and professionally, about to emerge into the world as true professionals, ready to assume command.

While graduation will certainly be a time of jubilation as you and your shipmates celebrate your accomplishments, it will also be tinged with sadness. Pause and remember those who failed to navigate the rocks and shoals of a Mass Maritime life and fell astern in your wake. Remember your families, who sacrificed much to enable you to stand on the Parade Field one last time as the Class of 2014. And remember that while you will never, ever be together again as a complete Class of 2014, you will always be shipmates - an important part of the history and the legacy of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy. As you set sail for distant harbors, the Class of 2014 should be proud of all that you have done to help make MMA the biggest and best maritime college in all of America!

Well done Class of 2014 - may you now safely sail toward the harbor of your dreams.

Regards,
Rick Gurnon.

Class of 2014,
Four years ago we made a decision to participate in a unique college experience. We understood the responsibility that came along with this decision. Countless hours were invested into the Academy. Now, we are graduating as cadets from the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, because throughout our college experience we were willing to do what others would not, so now we can do what others cannot.

STEVEN YERVANT MIGRIDICHIAN

Congratulations Steven!
This is your first big leap towards success. We wish you the best in life and sincerely hope you receive all the happiness in the world. Your graduation has brought immense pleasure and pride to all the members of our family. We hope your success knows no bounds and you excel in all aspects of life. We congratulate you with all of our hearts and it really makes us proud to see you so successful in life. Seventeen years of perseverance brings you this one moment of joy and glory. You truly worked hard for this. Remember your graduation day. Graduation is not the end of your education, it signifies the beginning. After all it is not a vessel to fill up; it is a fire that has been lit. We know you will go far in life, you deserve the best this world can give you and we know that you will get it. Even though today is the day we have to let you go to discover the world on your own, please know that we'll be with you no matter where you go and we will always be here for you. You are our heart, our soul, our life and our world. We love you Steven very much and thank you for the best 17 years of our lives.

Love Always,
Mom, Dad, Taline and Seta

Andrew,
We are so proud of all your accomplishments. You have everything for your journey ahead: strength, intelligence, determination and most importantly, a sense of humor.

We are truly blessed to have a son and brother like you!

Just remember, wherever you may go, we will be there to visit you!

You are a true man of character.

Love Always, Mom, Dad & Lauren

Twenty years from now, you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than those you did. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from safe harbor. Catch the wind in your sails. Explore. Dream. Discover.

Johnny,
Congrats, you did it! We're so happy and proud of you!
As you go out into the world, remember to believe in your heart, it offers you hope. Believe in your mind, it offers you direction. Believe in your soul, it offers you strength. And above all else, believe in yourself.
